The MAPC Region and its Subregions

About MAPC
The Metropolitan Area Planning Council is a regional planning agency serving the people who live and work in the 101 cities and towns of Metropolitan Boston. Our mission is to promote smart growth and regional collaboration. We work toward sound municipal management, sustainable land use, protection of natural resources, efficient and affordable transportation, a diverse housing stock, public safety, economic development, an informed public, and equity and opportunity among people of all backgrounds. Our regional plan, “MetroFuture,” guides our work and engages the public in responsible stewardship of the region’s future.

MAPC is governed by representatives from each city and town in our region, as well as gubernatorial appointees and designees of major public agencies. Each municipality in our region belongs to one of eight MAPC “Subregions,” each staffed by a coordinator from MAPC (see map above). The MetroWest subregion is led by an independent board and director. Each Subregional Council includes municipal officials, alongside regional and community stakeholders, all of whom work together to develop an annual work plan and priorities.

Credits
The following MAPC staff helped produce Metropolitan Insights 2011: Amanda Linehan, Timothy Reardon and Holly St. Clair for project coordination and editing; Mariana Arcaya, Chris Brown, Susan Brunton, Alison Felix, Barry Fradkin, David Loutzenheiser, Jennifer Raitt and Christian Spanring for mapping and writing; Joel Barrera, Amy Cotter, Rebecca Davis, Joseph Domelowicz, Marc Draisen, James Freas, Jessie Grogan, Mark Racin, Martin Pillsbury, Harry Taylor, Cynthia Wall and Steve Winter for additional input and editing.

Jason Fairchild of The Truesdale Group provided graphic design services.

Front Cover: Commuting patterns for selected employers in the 128 Central Corridor. For more information, see the November map.

60 Temple Place • Boston Massachusetts 02111 • (617) 451-2770 • Fax (617) 482-7185

About MAPC

Credits

Front Cover: Commuting patterns for selected employers in the 128 Central Corridor. For more information, see the November map.

60 Temple Place • Boston Massachusetts 02111 • (617) 451-2770 • Fax (617) 482-7185

The following MAPC staff helped produce Metropolitan Insights 2011: Amanda Linehan, Timothy Reardon and Holly St. Clair for project coordination and editing; Mariana Arcaya, Chris Brown, Susan Brunton, Alison Felix, Barry Fradkin, David Loutzenheiser, Jennifer Raitt and Christian Spanring for mapping and writing; Joel Barrera, Amy Cotter, Rebecca Davis, Joseph Domelowicz, Marc Draisen, James Freas, Jessie Grogan, Mark Racin, Martin Pillsbury, Harry Taylor, Cynthia Wall and Steve Winter for additional input and editing.

Jason Fairchild of The Truesdale Group provided graphic design services.

Front Cover: Commuting patterns for selected employers in the 128 Central Corridor. For more information, see the November map.

60 Temple Place • Boston Massachusetts 02111 • (617) 451-2770 • Fax (617) 482-7185

The Metropolitan Area Planning Council is a regional planning agency serving the people who live and work in the 101 cities and towns of Metropolitan Boston. Our mission is to promote smart growth and regional collaboration. We work toward sound municipal management, sustainable land use, protection of natural resources, efficient and affordable transportation, a diverse housing stock, public safety, economic development, an informed public, and equity and opportunity among people of all backgrounds. Our regional plan, “MetroFuture,” guides our work and engages the public in responsible stewardship of the region’s future.

MAPC is governed by representatives from each city and town in our region, as well as gubernatorial appointees and designees of major public agencies. Each municipality in our region belongs to one of eight MAPC “Subregions,” each staffed by a coordinator from MAPC (see map above). The MetroWest subregion is led by an independent board and director. Each Subregional Council includes municipal officials, alongside regional and community stakeholders, all of whom work together to develop an annual work plan and priorities.

60 Temple Place • Boston Massachusetts 02111 • (617) 451-2770 • Fax (617) 482-7185

The Metropolitan Area Planning Council is a regional planning agency serving the people who live and work in the 101 cities and towns of Metropolitan Boston. Our mission is to promote smart growth and regional collaboration. We work toward sound municipal management, sustainable land use, protection of natural resources, efficient and affordable transportation, a diverse housing stock, public safety, economic development, an informed public, and equity and opportunity among people of all backgrounds. Our regional plan, “MetroFuture,” guides our work and engages the public in responsible stewardship of the region’s future.

MAPC is governed by representatives from each city and town in our region, as well as gubernatorial appointees and designees of major public agencies. Each municipality in our region belongs to one of eight MAPC “Subregions,” each staffed by a coordinator from MAPC (see map above). The MetroWest subregion is led by an independent board and director. Each Subregional Council includes municipal officials, alongside regional and community stakeholders, all of whom work together to develop an annual work plan and priorities.

60 Temple Place • Boston Massachusetts 02111 • (617) 451-2770 • Fax (617) 482-7185

The Metropolitan Area Planning Council is a regional planning agency serving the people who live and work in the 101 cities and towns of Metropolitan Boston. Our mission is to promote smart growth and regional collaboration. We work toward sound municipal management, sustainable land use, protection of natural resources, efficient and affordable transportation, a diverse housing stock, public safety, economic development, an informed public, and equity and opportunity among people of all backgrounds. Our regional plan, “MetroFuture,” guides our work and engages the public in responsible stewardship of the region’s future.

MAPC is governed by representatives from each city and town in our region, as well as gubernatorial appointees and designees of major public agencies. Each municipality in our region belongs to one of eight MAPC “Subregions,” each staffed by a coordinator from MAPC (see map above). The MetroWest subregion is led by an independent board and director. Each Subregional Council includes municipal officials, alongside regional and community stakeholders, all of whom work together to develop an annual work plan and priorities.

60 Temple Place • Boston Massachusetts 02111 • (617) 451-2770 • Fax (617) 482-7185