

MEDFORD FOOD SECURITY PLAN

"Ending hunger is a community-wide effort.

We believe that everyone plays a role in ending hunger.

It takes many individuals and organizations at the table to share ideas, perspectives, resources, and solutions in a way that fits the unique needs of each community. It also takes knowledge of what obstacles remain."

SUMMARY

Access to affordable, healthy, culturally appropriate, nutritionally balanced meals is a human right. No one should have to skip meals to feed a child or decide between buying food and paying for rent. Yet one in nine Medford residents will experience food insecurity this year. About two-thirds of those suffering from food insecurity are children, and many are seniors. Members of racial and ethnic minorities and recent immigrants are more likely to experience food insecurity. Unfortunately, emergency and transitional food assistance programs serving Medford are not reaching all who need assistance.

With a deep tradition of volunteerism and civic service, Medford has the resources to eliminate food insecurity and ensure everyone has access to nutritious food without stigma or fear. The Medford Food Security Plan outlines a roadmap for eliminating food insecurity in our City, and aims to foster a culture of healthy eating for all Medford residents through four action areas:

1. Raising awareness of food insecurity in Medford and reducing stigma attached to those seeking food assistance
2. Removing systemic barriers to food security by addressing the root causes of food insecurity
3. Improving access to food assistance systems to those in emergency and transitional circumstances
4. Supporting and bolstering the local food economy to meet community needs

This Plan is based on ideas and insights from the Medford Food Security Taskforce, a roundtable of social service providers, public employees, elected officials, community advocates, religious leaders and business owners concerned with food security.

Already, Taskforce members have collaborated and mobilized to start new programs in the City.

ABOUT THE TASKFORCE

The Medford Food Security Taskforce is a community group of volunteers, community members, and representatives from organizations that work on hunger and health related services for Medford residents. The group began meeting in Fall 2017 to combine efforts on getting Medford residents better access to food. Several collaborations have been born out of the partnerships that were formed right away; the group simultaneously has been working on this Plan and how to move forward to reduce hunger.

VISION

We envision a Medford where no one experiences food insecurity; a city where there is equitable access to healthy food and those who need food support can ask without stigma. We envision a Medford where healthy food is the easy choice, and our community is united in its commitment to the wellbeing of all residents and workers.

OUR EQUITY STATEMENT

Food is a human right, not a privilege. It is our goal to create not only more equitable access, but a more unified, connected community that brings Medford together to provide, grow, cook, eat and work together without regard for age, race, ethnicity, immigration status, gender, orientation or any of the labels that separate us as a community.

The concept of equity and inclusion will be incorporated into all Food Security planning, policies and programs

The Medford Food Security Task Force will seek and use input from those groups most at risk for food insecurity, and welcome their ongoing assessment to be sure that policies and programs are effective and benefit those in need. Data about social and economic disparities and barriers will also inform the Plan. While focusing on equity, the Plan is also intended to reach all Medford citizens and constituencies, and raise awareness that healthy, affordable food is a community-wide effort.

Strong communication plans and methods will be integrated into the Plan

Medford is a diverse community made up of neighborhoods with varied income levels, household and housing arrangements, ages, and ethnicities. Communication must be clear and effectively reach all citizens, especially communities and populations that face the greatest need.

Programs and policies will focus on promoting community resilience and empowering those most vulnerable to food insecurity due to economic and social inequities

Programs development will include low-income households, minorities, recent immigrants and new arrivals, children and youth, culturally- and linguistically-isolated peoples, seniors, and people living with disabilities, chronic illness, and other health restrictions.

BACKGROUND

FOOD INSECURITY

We define food insecurity using the Hunger Vital Sign screening tool developed by Children's HealthWatch. It has been adapted by the American Healthy Communities for screening individuals and families.

Individuals or families are food insecure or at risk for food insecurity if they answer that either or both of these two statements are "often true" or "sometimes true" (compared to, "never true"):

1. "Within the past 12 months we worried whether our food would run out before we got money to buy more."
2. "Within the past 12 months the food we bought just didn't last and we didn't have money to get more."

This tool is endorsed by the American Academy of Pediatrics and has been found to be accurate and valid when asked of low-income families with young children, as a way to identify young children at risk of food insecurity. The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, and many health centers nationwide, have also adopted these questions to screen for food insecurity in individuals

FOOD INSECURITY RATE

The Greater Boston Food Bank estimates that one in nine Medford households struggle with food security. Two-thirds of those suffering from food insecurity are children, and many are seniors. Medford Public Schools estimates 45.2% of students district-wide are eligible for free and reduced lunch.

Of the 190 municipalities within Eastern Massachusetts, the Greater Boston Food Bank has identified Medford as a 'priority city' by the Greater Boston Food Bank.

SUPPLEMENTAL NUTRITION ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

6.6% of Medford households receive Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) benefits (formerly known as Food Stamps). However, in spite of several dedicated food assistance systems serving the Medford area, we know that many income-eligible Medford households do not receive food assistance.

The Western Massachusetts Food Bank estimates that 9,386 Medford residents enrolled in MassHealth were eligible for SNAP benefits in 2018, but 6,054 - 63.9% of those eligible - were not enrolled in SNAP. Local social service providers, school teachers and public health practitioners know that many people are not reached by existing programs, with the Massachusetts Department of Public Health currently focusing efforts on reducing this prevailing “SNAP Gap”.

HEALTH AND ECONOMIC IMPACTS

A study commissioned by Children’s HealthWatch and the Greater Boston Food Bank found that the avoidable annual costs of food insecurity in Massachusetts were conservatively $2.4 billion. With better measurement and more research, this cost would likely be much higher. These costs affect Medford as much as other Massachusetts communities.

Food insecurity also affects economic productivity, as workers are less able to function on the job and students are less able to study and learn. The lack of affordable local food businesses means consumer dollars are being spent in other communities, and the high costs of living mean households have less to spend on other goods and services.

FOOD ACCESS

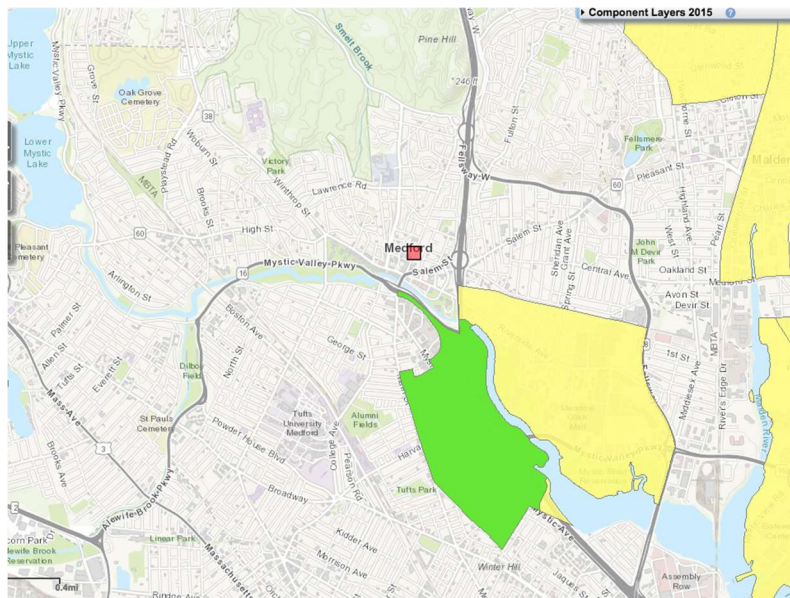

Poverty and Race/Ethnicity

Poverty is a strong predictor of food insecurity, especially when combined with Medford’s other challenges such as scarcity of affordable food sources and high cost of housing. The median income in Medford is $86,204, while the mean household income is $106,070. This is in comparison to a median income of $79,607 in 2016, which represents a 8.29% annual growth. In contrast, the poverty rate in Medford is at 10.3%, which shows a relatively stable, if not growing, poverty rate over the past 5 years despite a rising median income (8.9% poverty rate in 2012). Medford is 73.1% White, 9.7% Asian, 8.7% Black, and 5.3% Hispanic or Latino. However, further broken down by race/ethnicity, the poverty rate in Medford is 9.5% White, 13.5% Black, 13.4% Latino.

In Massachusetts, the median income for Black households is $46,925 and $41,995 for Hispanic or Latino, compared to $84,988 for White households. Overall income inequality in Massachusetts, not taking into consideration race/ethnicity (measured using the Gini index) is 0.485, which is higher than the national average. Even though the income gap is at the State level, these trends can also be observed at the municipal level and are reflected in the social, economic, and political disparities in Medford for Black and Hispanic residents.

Distance, Income, and Vehicle Access

Food deserts are defined by distance demarcations to the nearest supermarket or large grocery store. Low-access census tracts look at both distance to the nearest supermarket and median income of that census tract. We have used moderate estimates for low-access to food, defined as low-income census tracts where a significant number (at least 500 people) or share (at least 33%) of the population is greater than 1.0 mile from the nearest supermarket in an urban area. In the map below, the green area in South Medford is a low-income census tract, where residents are more than 1.0 mile from a supermarket.

Additionally, a low-access tract can be defined in consideration of vehicle access. A low-access using vehicle access, is defined as a tract in which at least 100 households are located more than 0.5 miles from the nearest supermarket and have no vehicle access. In addition to being a standard food dessert, South Medford is also an area where more than 100 households do not have a vehicle and are more than 0.5 miles from the nearest supermarket. In the map below, the yellow area in Wellington is another low-income census tract, where more than 100 housing units do not have a vehicle and are more than 0.5 miles from the nearest supermarket.

Another food access term is that of a food mirage, where residents are within 1.0 mile from a supermarket, but prices are beyond the means of low-income census tracts. Thus, seemingly available food is inaccessible, which makes them functionally equivalent to food deserts. Food mirages are often associated with areas of gentrification. A food mirage is demonstrated by Medford Housing Authority – Walkling Court in West Medford, which is 0.1 miles from Whole Foods Market.

FOOD PLAN GOALS

The Medford Food Plan aims to foster a culture of healthy eating for all Medford residents

Goal One: Raise awareness of food insecurity and reduce stigma

Goal Two: Remove systemic barriers to food security

Goal Three: Improve access to food assistance systems

Goal Four: Support and bolster local food economy

GOAL ONE: RAISE AWARENESS OF FOOD INSECURITY AND REDUCE STIGMA

Goal one aims to build a connected and inclusive culture to raise awareness of food insecurity in Medford and reduce the stigma of accessing services. This Goal hopes to bring our community together around food and help one another thrive by ensuring all voices are heard.

Strategies for Change

Contentious issues around food security include: providing healthy, balanced meals or just providing enough food; food as charity or as a community concern. In order to be productive with reducing food insecurity, we need to be united in the same mission. The Medford Food Security Taskforce believes that access to healthy food is a human right, not a privilege. As such, it is our goal to create not only more equitable access, but a more unified and resilient Medford.

The hidden nature of food insecurity results in a lack of understanding and awareness of food insecurity issues and the root causes and systems that both create and perpetuate this problem. The conventional narrative of food insecurity places the onus of blame on individuals and food assistance recipients, rather than on systems that have failed to protect and support all citizens. Thus, it is important to build community systems and infrastructure where neighbors of all ages, abilities, racial-ethnic backgrounds, incomes, educational levels, etcetera, can celebrate growing, preparing, sharing and eating nourishing food. Operating within this mission, food security is about building community and not about 'feeding the poor'.

Awareness and Education

To achieve this vision, awareness and education are crucial to shifting perceptions and culture. We need a campaign that re-characterizes the nature of food security and shifts the issue from individual blame to community responsibility. We all share a biological and social need for healthy food, and we thrive when we help our neighbors thrive. We need to educate the public about root causes of food insecurity and unhealthy eating. In addition to awareness and education, language and discourse shape the cultural perspectives of an issue. Thus, the way we talk about food security should emphasize community support and resilience to build the healthiest Medford possible.

Community Building

Additionally, community building may also relieve stigma associated with food insecurity. For example, education and empathy building could be incorporated into public events through food festivals, community meals welcome to everyone, holiday food sharing, and coffee socials. The community can also be reached through the arts, neighborhood activities, playgroups, and listening programs. As such, community building supports connections across social, cultural, and economic groups and fosters a community culture of empathy and understanding.

GOAL TWO: REMOVE SYSTEMIC BARRIERS TO FOOD SECURITY

Goal Two aims to work on fixing system failures that contribute to food security, including limited or restricted access to various social and community services. These services include affordable housing, transportation, stable jobs, living wages, and language supports.

Strategies for Change

While Medford's median household income is estimated at over $86,000, many Medford residents live at or below the federal and state "poverty line" and many more have low or unstable income(s).

Poverty and low or unstable income contribute to food insecurity in many households. Many seniors are living on fixed incomes. Factors that affect the ability to afford food include affordable housing, transportation, child care, business development, job availability and job training. Working on improving any of these factors increases access to food for our residents.

We see the priorities as:

- Increasing access to affordable quality housing, child care, transportation, health care, and services
- Advocating for education, good local jobs and job training, and create pathways to financial and social stability
- Advocating for economic justice, equitable policies, affordable housing and child care, more jobs and business opportunities, and fair wages and working conditions
- Strengthening lifeline social and financial supports

Establishing a food policy council can organize our residents and advocates to continue the Food Security Taskforce's initiatives and work on availability, accessibility and affordability. Expanding the availability of food assistance programs and options will assist residents dealing with poverty or unstable income, resulting in a more consistent inflow of food.

Partnerships with other community organizations and advocates working to address the same systemic flaws are critical. These can be at the state level (for example, advocating for higher wages) or local organizations (for example, ABCD office in Malden).

GOAL THREE: IMPROVE ACCESS TO FOOD ASSISTANCE SYSTEMS

Goal Three aims to improve the emergency and transitional food assistance "safety net" and integrate food assistance with other services and community connections.

Strategies for Change

In order to capture the full needs of people in need of food assistance systems, it is critical to involve and collaborate with people in need of those services in the planning and development of food security policies and programs. We define the food "safety net" system by six factors, which are each involved in developing a secure emergency and food assistance system. These six factors are:

1. Knowledge and awareness
2. Screening and referral
3. Program access
4. Food access
5. Food utilization
6. Capacity and resilience

In Medford, the food safety net is challenged at each of these points, creating barriers in access and use of emergency and transitional food assistance. Some strategies for alleviating these barriers at each point in the food safety net include:

Knowledge and Awareness

- Use available media to increase awareness of available food assistance and resources.
- Create person-to-person communication by presenting to community groups, engaging schools, and hosting community events.
- Engage with community groups and residents, particularly vulnerable groups, by attending tenants' associations, English language classes, and school- and faith-based organizations' events.

Screening and Referral

- Enlist and train medical, dental and other health care providers to screen for food insecurity.
- Adopt "Food as Medicine" programs to connect food-insecure patients to resources.

Program Access

- Design food assistance information, enrollment questionnaires, and directions that are welcoming to all.
- Overcoming cultural, educational and language differences, disabilities, immigration status, living situation, transportation gaps, and other challenges.
- Increase enrollment of MassHealth participants in SNAP and other food assistance programs.

Food Access

- Work with food pantries to increase their hours; adjust offerings based on client surveys and food preferences; and increase frozen and refrigerated foods and fresh produce.
- Improve bus routes and para-transit options for low-income households to reach pantries, congregate meals, and affordable food stores.
- Provide a direct door-to-door delivery program for clients unable to access food pantries by their own means.
- Enlist more stores and markets to accept federal and state food assistance services such as WIC, SNAP/EBT, and HIP.
- Partner with local businesses to welcome EBT users and offer match or discount on healthy food purchases.

Food Utilization

- Provide clients with live cooking demonstrations and access to menu planning, cooking instruction, and recipes incorporating ingredients provided at food pantries.
- Consider other issues of food utilization, such as food storage and food safety

Capacity Building

- Bring providers and people who need services together as partners in the planning process and the implementation of solutions.
- Communicate and collaborate among service providers by forming a network to share best practices and updates, and work as a united front.
- Measure program impacts and perform regular assessments and client and community surveys to ensure services are meeting community needs and working efficiently.
- Set goals of moving clients from emergency and transitional food assistance to self-sufficiency.

GOAL FOUR: SUPPORT AND BOLSTER LOCAL FOOD ECONOMY

Goal four aims to grow a strong and resilient local food economy that offers residents access to affordable nutritious food and supports local businesses and increases opportunities for stable employment. It also supports individuals' and families' self-sufficiency.

Strategies for Change

Job development has been identified as a priority and is addressed in the third Food Plan Recommendation, Develop a Food Education and Service Center. A centralized location for residents to access services is paramount. This could include, along with other social services, classes in nutrition and food literacy, food budgeting, growing food, preparing creative healthy meals, and preserving food. We'd love to see it address Food Sovereignty —local food growing, production and retail—which in turn would support Medford's economic development and job growth as well as access to healthy, fresh, affordable food in all parts of the City.

Urban Agriculture

We hope to reframe community gardening to appeal to the general community as well as area businesses by increasing the number of community gardens, school and senior gardens, and backyard gardens. Gardens and urban farms promote food diversity and provide opportunities for employment and business development. Home gardens can provide a sense of self sufficiency by providing residents the ability to grow a portion of their own food. Urban agriculture is a new and growing market that can involve people of all ages, cultures, and backgrounds.

Food Retail

While there are many stores available to purchase food in the area, many are relatively expensive. The affordable supermarket chain with quality food that many residents prefer is in a neighboring city, and access for those without reliable transportation can be expensive, unreliable and time consuming. Neighborhood corner stores are few, expensive, and don't carry a range of healthy food.

There is a large opportunity to connect with food retailers and restaurants to rescue otherwise wasted food. We need to investigate more options and learn from area businesses already focused on food recovery and rescue to re-branding food recovery. Technology presents a more user-friendly system to make it easy for residents to connect with local restaurants, businesses, and grocery stores. We would like to see increased partnerships with existing food rescue organizations to expand programs in Medford. Recapturing wasted food will help raise awareness of the economic and environmental cost of food waste. While we hope to recover much of food that is currently wasted, we recognize that not all food can be diverted out of the waste stream. We believe, therefore, that compost collection should be included in the City's waste removal.

Business Incubation, Workforce Development and Economic Development

We see the need to put energy into incubating food businesses, jobs and training, agriculture and gardens. There is opportunity for innovative new businesses to come in to Medford that address the affordability of food while providing jobs, such as a grocery store like The Daily Table. The Boston-based grocer not only offers traditional and salvage grocery items but also utilizes rescued food to prepare ready-to-eat foods for purchase at a price much lower than conventional grocery stores and restaurants.

The Medford Food Security Taskforce would like to support the City in making a platform for local businesses, government, educational institutions and organizations to work together to change agricultural policies, zoning, and free up land for urban agriculture. Medford can build capacity to develop a food business incubator and new business support for food vendors. Other ideas include working with the Chamber of Commerce, businesses and schools to pilot food labs and job training and development programs; and improve support for new businesses working to address food insecurity, such as mobile markets, food trucks, and popup food businesses.

FOOD PLAN RECOMMENDATIONS

The Medford Food Plan aims to foster a culture of healthy eating for all Medford residents.

ESTABLISH A FOOD POLICY COUNCIL

This recommendation aims to address Food Plan Goals One and Two

Food policy is the area of public policy concerning how food is produced, processed, distributed, and purchased. The Plan advocates for a permanent Food Policy Council where community service providers, volunteers and local government work together to shape policies, programs and projects that seek to end hunger and our shared community values. The Food Policy Council will be responsible for the continuation of Food Security Taskforce initiatives and to advance the food plan goals.

The Food Policy Council will develop food policy concerning food availability, accessibility and affordability.

EXPAND FOOD ASSISTANCE AVAILABILITY AND OPTIONS

This recommendation aims to address Food Plan Goals One and Three.

Improve accessibility to food assistance systems by two supporting branches:

- Increase enrollment and use of food assistance programs and reduce food assistance gaps: SNAP/EBT, HIP, WIC, CACFP, School Meals
- Extend emergency food options: macro and micro food pantries, mobile markets, pop-up distributions, soup kitchens

Ensure reliable and accessible transportation to affordable healthy food stores

DEVELOP A FOOD EDUCATION AND SERVICE CENTER

This recommendation aims to address Food Plan Goals One and Four.

The Food Education and Service Center will be a community space that brings residents together on many food-related issues, such as:

- Food and nutrition education and awareness
- Information and assistance on growing food and urban agriculture
- Tips on food budgeting, food storage, and food safety

The Food Education and Service Center will also serve as a hub to support economic and business development for local food establishment

APPENDICES

APPENDIX 1: PROFILE OF MEDFORD

Cost of Living

Families are a big part of Medford. 30.3% of residents are married with children, and 8.9% are single with children. MIT's Living Wage Calculator for 2017 shows that a family of four, with two adults working full-time, must collectively earn $76,784 annually, or $18.46 per hour each, to afford basic living expenses in Middlesex County. If that same family has only one adult working, the wage earner must earn $28.60 per hour, or $58,912 annually. These costs assume a modest lifestyle and are low for Medford, where housing and transportation are more expensive than the average for Middlesex County. Unfortunately, this "living wage" lifestyle is out of reach for many of the 27.5% of Medford families whose family income was less than $75,000 in 2016.

The median income of $86,204 in Medford masks the fact that many people may struggle financially: older adults on fixed income, people with disability or illness, people with lower educational levels, people with limited English language skills, and people living from paycheck-to-paycheck without savings. Furthermore, sudden rises in median income are better indicators of rapid gentrification rather than sustainable economic growth, signaling that socially vulnerable Medford residents are at risk of further disenfranchisement and displacement.

Housing

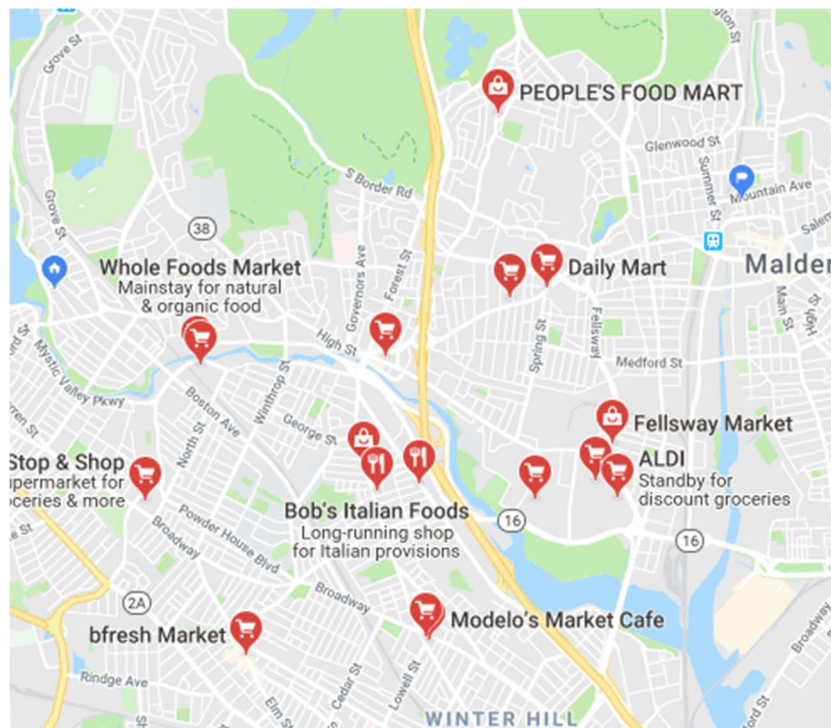

The median property value in Medford is $443,100, and the homeownership rate is 57.5%. Housing costs in Medford have risen by 63% between 2010 and 2016, squeezing out middle and low-income renters and homebuyers. Median gross rent in 2016 was $1,606 per month for a 2-bedroom apartment. Larger units are typically more expensive and harder to find. A regional shortage of housing reduce the supply of affordable units and drive up costs. New development is typically at higher prices and includes few affordable units.

Transportation

Public transportation in Medford is mainly by bus, with limited commuter rail hours and routes. Commuting to jobs and services by public transportation can take long hours, especially outside of normal 9-to-5 work shifts. Most people in Medford, MA commute by "Drove Alone", and the average commute time is 30.8 minutes. The average car ownership in Medford is 2 cars per household.

Child Care

Child care cost burdens many working families. Median cost of a day care center for one preschool child is over $12,000 per year. MIT's Living Wage study calculates the cost of 2 children in child care at $15,684, which represents full-time care for one pre-school child and after-school care for one school-age child. The cost of child care causes wage earners, particularly women, to work fewer hours, take lower paid jobs with greater flexibility or shorter commute, or to take a break from employment. For low wage earners working irregular hours or several shift jobs, child care is especially challenging. Despite the child care burden, 63.3% of families with children under 6, and 79.3% of families with children between 6 and 18, have two adults employed full-time.

Grocery Stores

Food in the Boston area is expensive, and Medford has its own challenges with limited supermarket options. Medford has three supermarkets- Stop and Shop, Wegman's and Aldi's. Consumers' Checkbook rates Wegman's as the most affordable and highest quality supermarket in Medford: prices are 7% below the average for Shaw's and Stop and Shop. Whole Foods, while highly rated for quality, is 48% more expensive than the Shaw's/Stop and Shop average. Aldi's, a deeply discounted grocery store, had prices 38% below the Shaw's/Stop and Shop average, but the quality is uneven and only about 2/3 of staple foods were available. Anecdotally many Medford residents' shop at DeMoulas Market Basket superstore in Chelsea for lower prices, wider selection especially in baked and prepared foods and international foods, and good quality. The Checkbook survey for the Boston area found Market Basket stores overall have prices 9% below the Shaw's/Stop and Shop average, and quality rated at 73 points overall, 55 points for produce.

Language and Ethnicity

Ancestry in Medford is diverse. The largest groups in 2016 were (19.5%) Italian, (13.3%) Irish, (7.9%) Haitian, (5.2%) Brazilian, with many other ancestries present in smaller counts. In 2016, 13,203 residents or 22.8% of Medford was foreign-born, with the largest portion (7.4% of Medford residents) born in Latin America.

Language and cultural identity are strong, and present both barriers and opportunities for food security. 15,801 Medford residents speak a foreign language as their native tongue. 4.22% of the Medford population are native Spanish speakers. 4.05% speak French Creole and 3.98% speak Portuguese, the next two most common languages.

Environmental Justice Communities

In Massachusetts a community is identified as an Environmental Justice community if any of the following are true:

- Block group whose annual median household income is equal to or less than 65 percent of the statewide median ($62,072 in 2010); or
- 25% or more of the residents identify as a race other than white; or
- 25% or more of households have no one over the age of 14 who speaks English only or very well - English Isolation

The map below shows 2010 U.S. Census districts in Medford that are more than 25% minority residents (gold), low income (light green), more than 25% minority and low income (dark green), and minority with language isolation (magenta).

Inequality vs. Diversity: Coming Together as One Community

Medford's "GINI index", its rating for household income inequality (shown in red in the chart below), is slightly lower than the U.S. national rate shown in grey). However, there is still a wide range of incomes, cultures and lifestyles in Medford. Most residents value this diversity and welcome the opportunity to engage with, and learn from, neighbors with divergent perspectives. In any culture, sharing food and breaking bread together is a fundamental connection to build a strong community. The Food Security Plan is intended to promote a community that grows, cooks and eats food together and takes care of its own most vulnerable members.

40	You can help my family by making more farmers markets in the medford area and maybe near city hall parking lot and that might make changes happen	5/3/2018 11:36 AM
41	We need closer food stores. They need cheaper prices and more fresh produce. Most of the foods I like usually aren't in stock and I need to drive farther to get it.	5/3/2018 9:29 AM
42	My family is food secure, and I appreciate this survey being offered to the community.	5/3/2018 7:31 AM

47	We don't need help	5/2/2018 3:02 PM
48	Have a bulletin board or on-line/your web site announcing pantries and other low cost food opportunities. Also start a request petition for a Market Basket in this community on the West Medford side of town.	5/2/2018 2:54 PM
49	Our family is very fortunate and we rarely to never have to worry about food, but for other families in the area, I think that creating more food pantries or any place where free/discounted, nutritious food is easily accessible would help a great deal.	5/2/2018 2:48 PM
50	Another super market	5/2/2018 2:05 PM
51	Need more walkable options for food shopping. As a non-driver, it takes a lot of time to go shopping, and Whole Foods being the closest supermarket does not have many inexpensive options. More small grocery stores would help a lot.	5/2/2018 12:25 PM
52	n/a	5/2/2018 11:35 AM
53	Spend too much time working or commuting to make it to the store more than once a week, no time to cook, run out of some things before I have time to make a grocery run	5/2/2018 11:30 AM

96	I would like to volunteer with my children helping set up community food banks, community meals, packing bagged lunches or backpacks of food for the weekend for all families in Medford who would benefit from these services.	5/1/2018 1:28 PM
97	Currently we have no food security needs and are very fortunate, but would be interested in helping with community programming to ensure food security for all in the city.	5/1/2018 1:22 PM
98	Teach people to grow their own vegetables	5/1/2018 1:21 PM
99	Bring market basket to Medford!	5/1/2018 1:09 PM
100	I don't have any problem getting food. I would like to see more community gardens and small local grocery stores that I can walk to , where you can get fresh food , not like rite aid which only has junk food and a very small number of basics. I want walkable small green grocers.	5/1/2018 12:49 PM
101	We do not need help obtaining food it is just in the preparation and cooking of the food that we need help.	5/1/2018 12:27 PM
102	I think my family is very lucky to have food. Even when money is tight, food really isn't an issue. I would be interested in learning about ways to be more creative with my food as well as willing to help others build up a community around food.	5/1/2018 12:19 PM
103	Fresh produce available in Medford Square	5/1/2018 12:08 PM
104	We're doing fine. Let us know how we can help you.	5/1/2018 11:56 AM
105	more options in West Medford besides Whole Foods.	5/1/2018 10:22 AM
106	I don't know. I can't eat normal food (i.e. cereal, rice, potatoes, tuna, meat).	5/1/2018 8:48 AM
107	More competition to drive food costs down, like Market Basket! Some families can only go shopping once a month. The new Wegman's is too expensive and not very friendly and convenient for value and bulk (monthly) shopping. Farmer's Markets tend to cater to "artisanal" products instead of basic fresh fruits and vegetables. Also, having the market split across the Sq. is confusing. The only food pantry I have every been able to get to, that treats you with kindness and respect, is in Malden. Everything services related is in Malden. No one should be made to feel "poor" because of food insecurities. Unfortunately, the City of Medford treats the poor like beggars who should be grateful for whatever they get. I for one have stopped looking to City Hall for information or guidance. You can get more help from the internet than you can get from the Community development office.	5/1/2018 8:42 AM
108	Help me find ways to help other families in need.	5/1/2018 5:25 AM
109	Im all good	5/1/2018 5:11 AM
110	We are ok, but we see a great need for other options for lower income families, including access, healthy low cost foods and support (instruction, equipment) on how to prepare quality foods. Thanks for your work on this issue!	5/1/2018 4:42 AM
111	Perhaps provide information to parents about food market options in the area. If this exists, I am not aware because I don't receive it. Perhaps include it in the blue book and emails, pass a flyer in kids folders etc.	4/30/2018 10:57 PM

114	Thank you for the effort.	4/30/2018 4:38 PM

120	Have healthier options in schools. Identify who is hungry in the community. Lower prices on farmers markets and lower prices for produce and healthy options. Is there a way to get Whole Foods to lower their prices? They're in Medford, for goodness sake, but their prices are prohibitive.	4/30/2018 6:02 AM
121	By providing clear information about my neighbors that have needs in this area.	4/30/2018 6:01 AM
122	It would be really nice to close down High Street in West Medford and have a Farmer's Market on the weekends. Similar to what they do in Union Sq or even Waltham. I think a lot of the families in the West Medford would come out to shop, and be a draw for people outside of Medford.	4/30/2018 5:29 AM
123	Think the survey is a great idea to help with inequitable food access. Create local food drives at food stores for people to drop off goods in the store while they're shopping.	4/30/2018 5:21 AM

136	I am okay	4/29/2018 9:17 AM
137	More education on how to be effective and healthy in our food shopping and preparation.	4/29/2018 8:53 AM
138	Being able to access more fresh fruit and veggies that are organic and affordable. I know I can get some kind of bonus if I use my SNAP at farmer's markets, but it is confusing and embarrassing trying to figure out how to do it.	4/29/2018 7:19 AM
139	My family does not need help, but I would very much appreciate the opportunity to volunteer my time to help other families.	4/29/2018 2:26 AM
140	Increase healthy snacks for kids in school throughout the school day.	4/28/2018 5:36 PM

153	I am fine now. A few years ago I was between jobs and times were tough economically. That's when having healthy, nutritious food for me was a challenge. But there was always enough food for my children. My health has been effected but not my children's.	4/27/2018 12:29 PM

158	I would like to see a Market Basket in Medford.	4/27/2018 7:45 AM
159	While our family is not in need of assistance acquiring/accessing food, it does concern me that there are students whose families do struggle. I applaud your efforts to address this very concerning issues. Students cannot possibly perform to their potential in academics and sports if they are not receiving appropriate nutrition and certainly if they are hungry.	4/27/2018 7:26 AM
160	Fortunately, my family does not have to deal with food insecurity, but I appreciate all that you are doing for those in our community who do.	4/27/2018 7:19 AM
161	I am a single working parent. I am not eligible for ANY assistance, but often find ourselves not being able to eat fresh produce. Offer those food vouchers to people like me who work, pay bills and sometimes food runs short because we're paying the high rents of Medford	4/27/2018 7:16 AM
162	Our household is all set. Would contribute to a general fund if it went directly to a child/family in need (sponsor) or contribute to the overall cost of the program if it was known. (spend down)	4/27/2018 7:11 AM
163	My child attends Columbus Elementary School and is fortunate enough to not struggle with food access at home. But I sincerely wish the food options provided at school were more nutritious - particularly the free breakfast items which are the only food source for many of the students for both breakfast and lunch. Easy access to school lunches is not a great solution for a hungry child being asked to learn. I am relieved our school system doesn't force these kids to go hungry, but I wish we could set them up for more success with a better foundation each day.	4/27/2018 7:00 AM
164	I think having FRESH and WHOLE foods available at reasonable costs benefits the whole community. Healthy choices vs. cheap choices should be priority!	4/27/2018 6:59 AM

168	To be able to enroll in DTA food stamps would help. Get better paying jobs to be independent.	4/26/2018 5:48 PM

174	Bring a Market Basket to Medford. A number of family and friends drive to somerville, Chelsea or Woburn to shop. Wegmans is not reasonable for a family of 4 and Stop and Shop is only good for sale items.	4/26/2018 8:44 AM

178	My family is fortunate enough that we do not need help. I volunteered at the Food market organized by the WIC Program at City Hall and maybe some families do not about it. Making them know could help. Thank you.	4/26/2018 6:24 AM

189	I'm ok for now. Thank you.	4/25/2018 5:18 PM
190	I love the farmers market but it is hard to get to after working all day. It would be nice if there were pop-up or smaller markets in other parts of Medford. Even if it was every other week it would be nice to buy fresh veg/fruit. For example, one in West Medford near the train station would likely sell a lot and be accessible via walking or the 94/80 bus.	4/25/2018 5:14 PM
191	The farmers market prices be comparable to store prices. Have more variety.	4/25/2018 5:10 PM
192	More food store	4/25/2018 5:05 PM
193	Better quality produce at the less expensive stores so that one would not have to go to the more expensive stores to get quality fruits and veggies. It would be nice if the produce in the cheaper stores did not spoil so quickly and if it tasted better	4/25/2018 4:51 PM
194	I do not have a food security problem in my household or within my family.	4/25/2018 4:37 PM
195	Lower prices.	4/25/2018 4:30 PM
196	I'm doing just fine. no need for help. Please help others.	4/25/2018 3:33 PM
197	School lunch does not taste good. I wish they would make the food taste better so that my kids would eat it. It would be so much more convenient to purchase school lunch. We lived in Somerville previously and their school lunch was great. Thank you.	4/25/2018 3:27 PM

209	None at the moment	4/25/2018 11:56 AM
210	It would be great to have a farmer's market on the weekend in Medford. My husband and I both work full-time and getting to the market on a Thursday is really tough. It's great that the farmer's market accepts SNAP. I volunteered at a food bank in Medford and there is a really great need for more affordable options (or more food banks). I like Whole Foods, but it's really expensive. Having a range of options closer to West Medford and Medford Square would be helpful, especially for people without their own transportation. With the food bank on high st. only being open once per week, I wonder what people who can't make it on Thursday evening do. It would be good if they had more options.	4/25/2018 11:30 AM
211	Have school lunches be a lower cost for those not eligible for reduced or free lunch. $3 per day is too high and more if breakfast is purchased over $60 per month	4/25/2018 11:16 AM
212	We currently don't have difficulty with food access. I would like the city to consider providing free school lunch for all as a way to encourage healthy attitudes toward food and food access.	4/25/2018 11:13 AM
213	No personal help needed, help where needed	4/25/2018 11:08 AM

216	Raise the monthly guidelines for food stamps. I work my butt off and make a little to much money to meet the guidelines. Sometimes not enough money to afford good healthy food.	4/25/2018 10:53 AM
217	We are fine in our family. I would like to help other families in our neighborhood who may not have enough food to eat.	4/25/2018 10:48 AM
218	Second farmer's market that is walking distance to West Medford. Perhaps near the Brooks School.	4/25/2018 10:46 AM
219	You can help us by having stores get more hours with more variety foods that are fresh. Also, more transportation to specifically these markets. More farmers markets and gardens would be helpful.	4/25/2018 10:33 AM
220	Would love more affordable options at farmers market. A Medford Market Basket would be nice.	4/25/2018 10:29 AM

290	Grocery shopping is very expensive and feel at times most is wasteful either because the food spoiled to fast and also container and plastic waste. If more corner stores and food trucks would ride through neighborhoods and set up food marts much like a flea market and sell fruits and veggies that could help. There's too much processed food . I believe it's a combination of available time, food quality, and access that is challenging in finding a work life balance in the way we live today. Let food be thy medicine and health care. If the city has empty lots turn them into community gardens like the one in front of my house at 29 Bailey street! Thank you. Marianne Najjar	4/24/2018 6:52 AM

369	If we can have one nice Indian grocery store that will be great. Have to go to Waltham to buy Indian grocery. The ones here are way expensive and does not carry good stuff.	4/19/2018 9:43 AM
370	Myself and my family are food secure. As a former Medford resident, however, I remember how challenging public transit could be. I don't own a car and if no one could drive me I had to walk or bike to the store in bad weather - I am young and able-bodied so this never kept me from accessing healthy, affordable food, but my neighborhood was mixed-income and mixed-age and this wasn't the reality for everyone. The 89 and 101 buses that connected our neighborhood to major grocery stores were unreliable at night and on weekends.	4/19/2018 9:09 AM
371	There is a lack of cheap, better quality options in Medford. We need more grocery stores that offer cheap and high quality products to the sizable lower income population in Medford. One way to do that would be establishing more grocery stores and community gardens and making sure to include more lower-income people in community garden activities.	4/19/2018 9:08 AM
372	I don't have an issue with food insecurity right now but I do think that more community gardens would be helpful.	4/19/2018 9:07 AM
